

All rights cleared for Max Fire jukeboxes

Some mischievous rumours have been circulating about TAB-Austria's Max Fire digital jukeboxes, which the company has rejected with a statement. Siegfried Dattl, Managing Director of the Linz-based company, has gone on record as refuting very indignantly any suggestion that the Max Fire does not have PPL or VPL approval. "I suspect it is a rumour instigated by competitors, probably because Max Fire's cashbox is consistently higher than theirs," said Dattl. "But I can categorically reassure all jukebox operators that Max Fire is not just the best-earning juke box on the market, it is also completely covered by every performing rights requirement for every market it enters." He added that this feature of the box had been in existence right back to the end of 2006. TAB-Austria is also the first foreign company ever signed a contract with The Official UK Charts and they have access to all official chart lists. "Also many new features are going to be released within the next few weeks - features which are completely new to the business. Trial test have shown, that there are going to become a great success," said Karin Scheidl, Marketing Manager.
