Over the Ether

Various enhancement stages of TAB-Austria's OTM (Online Terminal Management) and OVP (Online Version Plus) offer new exclusive games, online tournaments and regular software updates for their Silverball and Max Fire product lines at the touch of a button.

Since 2002, TAB Austria has invested heavily in online technology in April 2008, just under 300 HSDPA modems have been installed throughout Europe in TAB terminals. This transmission procedure, also known as 3G+, guarantees quick data transmission of large amounts of data with very short latency periods and no expensive roaming fees for the operators.

in order to gain new customers, develop new markets and set new trends in the marketplace. Regular version and game updates can be easily loaded to all Silverball touch screen terminals and Max Fire jukeboxes, directly from Ansfelden. The latest songs and videos can also be downloaded directly to the Max Fire digital video jukebox.

After an intensive test phase, since the start of the mobile online offensive at TAB Austria

TAB's novel 'Music To Go' download feature for Max Fire jukeboxes allows direct data transfer of music files and music videos to external data carriers like MP3 players, USB keys and mobile telephones via Bluetooth or USB interface.
